HAVAS

Paris, March 31st.—The French Parliament has adjourned till May 6th.

Berlin, March 31st.—The Internationa Laboru Conference terminated its session on Saturday last. Its report will be published shortly, but it is expected that the results will be insignificant.

Lisbon, March 31.—At the general election for Deputies yesterday, the Conservatives were triumphant, and, whereas they were in a minority in the last parliament, in this they will have a majority.

GALVESTON.

Louisville, United States, March 29th.—Between eight and nine o'clock on Thursday a terrible cyclone passed over her[e] with heavy rain and tremendous wind; later there were alarms of fire from dozens of stations and then only could the inhabitants realise the extent of the calamity. When the tempest ended, rescue parties were organised; there are more than two hundred houses in ruins. The Falls City Hotel in the centre of the town has entirely disappeared; there were two hundred people staying in the hotel, few of whom are saved. On the ground floor there was a children's dancing school where there were a hundred and twenty-five persons and upstairs a grand Masonic meeting at which seven hundred and fifty more were present was being held. The rescuers were greatly hindered by crowds of distracted women seeking their relatives and trying to remove the debris with their hands. A way across the ruins had to be cut in order to reach the wounded and dying. The main gas pipe had been broken and many are believed to have been suffocated. At noon yesterday a part of the ruins was opened up and the entry of the fresh air produced another conflagration, which burst out with such force that the work of rescue had to be abandoned for an hour. The cyclone also passed over Jeffersonville, where, however, many were injured but none killed. In St. Louis, Cairo, Charleston and Missouri there was also great damage, but few people were injured.

Paris, March 29.—A German spy has been arrested at Espinal in the department of the Vosges; documents clearly showing the existence of an organised syste of espionage in all the frontier fortified places and camps were found on his person.

Last night at a farewell banquet given by the Minister of Commerce to the delegates assembled at the Labour Conference, Bishop Kopp, the German representative, speaking in French, bestowed high praise on Jules Simon, the head of the French Legation; the latter returned thanks to the people of Berlin for their cordial welcome.

Berlin, March 30.—Before leaving Berlin, Bismarck went to the Imperial Mausoleum and placed a crown on the tomb of his old master; he also paid visits to the Royal Princes. Thousands of people thronged the Wilhelmsstrasse and the route to the Railway Station to bid him farewell; he was received with enthusiasm, all the windows of the neighbouring houses being crowded. The entire route was a sea of waving handkerchiefs with a thunder of continuous cheering.

It is said that the Emperor has accepted Herbert Bismarck's resignation with reluctance, as he is not thought to be thoroughly imbued with his father's political ideas.

Throughout all the sittings of the Labour Conference the Emperor treated the representatives of France with special consideration. This is the most important feature in the position.

The working men of this and other cities are organising a grand Socialistic manifestation for the 1st May.

Madrid, March 30th.—40,000 artisans in Catalunia are out on strike; the leaders and the employers are conferring with the view to a settlement.

Lisbon, March 30th.—The general election took place to-day but up to now the result is not known. There was excitement at different places but no serious disturbances. The Republicans have joined the Progressionists in opposition to the so-called Patriotic party; no Conservative put up for Lisbon, but here the Patriotic candidates are completely defeated.

Berlin, March 31st.—A telegram from Zanzibar announces that Wissman has proclaimed a state of siege on the east coast of Africa, martial law prevailing in the German possessions.

St. Petersburg, March 3rd.—The Russian Government intends establishing consulates in various parts of South Africa.

Berlin, March 31st.—Bismarck arrived at Friedrichsruhe at 10 last night and was received at the station by General Lasewski; a large crowd cheered him enthusiastically.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Valparaiso, March 31.—On the 12th of March the steam boat "Gulf of Aden", proceeding from Liverpool, was totally lost in the Magellan Straits by striking on a rock 100 miles from land in latitude 47. 40 of the crew and 41 passengers were saved in 4 boats, but 5 are known to have perished. The ship and cargo were insured in England.

The Onruba arrived at Orotava on Saturday and starts for Europe to-day.

Prudencio Lazcama will be shortly nominated Chilian Minister in Washington.

Mariano Astaburuaga died last night in Santiago.

Enrique Salvador Sanfuentes talks of publishing a manifesto explaining that he has never thought of "running" for the Presidency.

Archbishop Casanova arrived in Santiago on Saturday and was received at the station by a large crowd who accompanied him to the Archiepiscopal Palace. A solemn "Te Deum" for his safe arrival was sung.

Bolivia, March 31st.—In the early part of April the new paper La Nacion, edited by Luis Salinas Vega, who has recently returned from Europe will appear.

THE CRISIS.

The crisis in the Plate has now assumed such great dimensions that it is, perhaps, wise to study similar periods of disaster in other countries, in order to measure, if possible, its duration and extent. Many of our principal merchants consider that the crisis here is exaggerated, others that it has only just begun, others that its "raison d'etre" is want of confidence in the Government and public men. We for our part advance no opinion, but ask those who wish to study it in all its bearings to read the following remarks by Mr. Hugh McCulloch, of Washington, who, under date of January 31st, 1890, publishes a paper in reply to Mr. Blaine, and which, although exclusively treating of the crisis in the United States in 1837, applies so much to our situation that one might almost suppose this distinguished North American statesman was writing in our office, Calle Maipu, of the present crisis in the Plate.

Mr. McCulloch says:—"Of the reverses of 1837 I made the following remarks in my report as secretary of the Treasury in 1865:—"The great expansion of 1835 and 1836, ending with the terrible financial collapse of 1837, from the effects of which the country did not rally for years, was the consequence of excessive bank circulation and discounts, and an abuse of the credit system, stimulated in the first place by Government deposits with the State banks, and swelled by currency and credits, until, under the wild spirit of speculation which pervaded the country, labor and production decreased to such an extent that the country, which should have been the great food-producing country of the world, became an importer of breadstuffs.

"The balance of trade had been for a long time favourable to Europe and against the United States, and also in favor of the commercial cities of the sea-board and against the Interior, but a vicious system of credits prevented the prompt settlement of balances. The importers established large credits abroad, by means of which they were enabled to give favourable terms to the jobbers. The jobbers in turn were thus, and by liberal accommodations from the banks, able to give their own time to country merchants, who in turn sold to their customers on indefinite credit. It then seemed to be more reputable to borrow money than to earn it, and pleasanter and apparently more profitable to speculate than to work. And so the people ran into debt, labour decreased, production fell off, and ruin followed."

This was, of course, a panic sharp and terrific, but it was of short duration. It was soon followed by a lethargy under which all the springs of enterprise and hopefulness were dried up. To prevent the sacrifice of property under judicial decrees, stay laws and appraisement laws were enacted by many of the States, which only aggravated the trouble. For long weary years the lethargy continued. There was no demand for anything except the necessaries of life, and all these, except clothing, were sold for scarcely enough, and in some cases not enough, to pay the expenses of taking them to the market. I witnessed a sale in 1839 to the keeper of a hotel in Indianapolis of oats at 10 cents a bushel and fine chickens at 50 cents a dozen. The same year I saw thousands of barrels of flour under the sheds of Suydam, Sage & Co. in New York which they were offering at $3.50 a barrel. Fat cattle were selling at so low a price—$10 and $12 a head—that my brother thought that he would pick a few barrels of beef at Fort Wayne for the New York market. He did so, and was drawn upon by his consignees for a part of the expenses of transportation, not covered by the sales. From 1837 to 1841 there was nothing to break the stagnation but the political campaign of 1840, in which everybody became enlisted for want of something else to do. In the Fall of 1841 a reaction began to appear. This became decided in 1842, before the tariff of that year went into operation, and in 1845, the country, chastened by adversity, was in the full tide of healthy and wealth-producing industry and enterprise. This continued until credits became again unwisely expanded and speculation became rife."

We reserve for a future issue further extracts from this valuable paper. It appears that Mr. McCullock attributes the United States crisis of 1837 to causes which come home to our own door. The blunder of the Government depositing its funds in the bank; the excessive bank circulation and discounts (the discounts of our National Bank which this time last year were 90 millions are to-day 196 millions.)

Mr. McCullock's remarks on the United States crisis of 1817 and on that of 1857 are equally pungent and worthy of attention. However, not to fatigue our readers we hold them for future publication.

OPENING OF THE LA PLATA PORT

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

The importance of the opening of the La Plata Port, which took place with great ceremony on Sunday, was considerably enhanced by the President's speech, which we give hereunder, and to which we particularly call attention. The programme of the day, favoured by the fine weather, was carried out without contretemps, and the Eolo and Jupiter, of the Platense Company, laden with crowds of invited guests, steamed out of the South Basin at 10 a.m. Breakfast was served on board, and the magnificence of all the arrangements was so great that most of the guests forgot that we are all in the midst of a crisis. At half past one the steamers entered the port of La Plata, a stupendous work and "triumph of science," as Minister Gonnet called it in his toast at the official breakfast. The President arrived in a special train, and his arrival was immediately announced by salvoes from all the gunboats in the harbour, the "Patagonia," "Azopardo" and "Maipu," all magnificently decked out for the occasion. The guests to the number of several thousand were almost crushed to death in the enclosure on the grand dock. The benediction of the works was a most imposing ceremony. Canon Pera officiated, while a band of stringed instruments discoursed sweet music. Round Canon Pera stood President and Mrs. Celman, Governor Paz and Mrs. Alvear-Christophersen, and other distinguished people, while the presence of the Artillery Regiment and other troops made the ceremony even more imposing. The strains of the Te Deum concluded this ceremony, the recollection of which will remain long engraved on the memory of all present.

On the conclusion of the Te Deum about twelve hundred people, specially invited, sat down to breakfast, President Juarez and the charming Mrs. Juarez-Celman sitting at the head of the table of honor. On the uncorking of the champagne, Minister Gonnet rose amid acclamations and delivered an eloquent speech which very many could not hear, owing to the continual rounds of applause. He said that the Province of Buenos Aires once again had linked its name to a work of lasting benefit to the country. At the foot of La Plata the majestic river had been drawn inland in two parallel lines, thus affording shelter and anchorage to the shipping of the Plate. The port of La Plata was a triumph of science and progress. He then dwelt on the "flourishing" condition of the province. He showed that the dream of Rivadavia had at last been realised, and to Dr. Rocha was due the honor of taking up a project that had slept so long. At this point the speaker was interrupted with deafening cheers for Dr. Rocha, the founder of La Plata. To Governor Paz was due the honor of giving the finishing touch to the noble work (cheers for Governor Paz). Mr. Gonnet then dwelt on the imposing structure that graced the La Plata. He complimented Mr. Waldorp, the builder of the port, on the grandeur of the work, and concluded his speech with a political allusion to the unity of Argentina and a pious hope that Providence would watch over the country.

The President, then rose, and, as soon as the cheers had subsided, read the following speech:—

Gentlemen

Whilst taking part in the rejoicing of the people and Government of Buenos Aires, let me believe that you have associated my name with these great works as a posthumous consecration of the genius of Bernardino Rivadavia, who conceived the idea of this port as an indispensable factor in the aggrandisement of the Republic. The presence of the Chief Magistrate at this ceremony is a homage to that illustrious statesman; and here in the name of the nation which has entrusted me with its destinies, I join these festivities and beg of you to tribute admiration to the statesman who prepared the works for those who executed them. Henceforward ocean vessels fraught with European civilization and goods will not remain abandoned in the roads at the mercy of our capricious climate and anchored beyond telescopic view of the turrets of the city. This port means refuge from the storm; facility of loading and unloading, development of shipping, and reflects the wealth of the Republic. The guns that salute our national banner will echo over the bosom of the Plate our rejoicings and will announce to the world that we consign to oblivion the wreckage of vessels in our vast estuary. And in years to come, when this and other ports of the Republic will be crowded with shipping, we shall yet hearken to the tradition and listen in the twilight to the murmuring of the Plate's waves as they waft the echoes of the harp of ill-fated Luca who found a grave in these waters as his ship failed to find an anchorage.

A new port is a new lever in our production. Much foreign capital has been invested in the work; many resources to accomplish it have been diverted from trade and industry; Buenos Ayre may have even mortgaged her future in the attempt; but we are now at the end of the journey, and we may bless the sacrifices that have realized after half a century the political ideal of one of our greatest statesmen.

We are a new country. We are just beginning to develop with all the forces of a tardy puberty. In few years we have run a course that other nations took a century to accomplish. We have raised cities in the desert, La Plata for instance, which eclipse the audacious improvisation of North Americans and prove our foresight and trust in the future. The monuments of this metropolis recall the fathers of our race who in ancient Rome defied the work of time with the cement of their public buildings.

Railways cross our lands, canals flow through our fields; colonies stud our Pampas; we have taught work and patriotism to the Gaucho; we have killed distance and multiplied telegraph posts; we have created new industries and improved old ones; and we are now preparing to supplant the foreign fabric by the national one.

We transform everything, but with the enthusiasm of Latin races we have launched forth with the audacity and disorder of youth, daring the future and mismanaging the present.

Hence the disease we suffer from—Crisis—is peculiar to all rich countries that develop fast.

Such surprising progress in a young people, lacking accumulation of wealth and the experience of older nations, has entailed these temporary disturbences that arise from excessive speculation, exaggerated values, and abuse of credit.

I think our currency crisis does not depend upon the amount of issue of paper. I believe even that if the currency were made convertible, if the free banks were liquidated, the present crisis would still continue, for the causes of artificial value would remain just as the errors that led to an abuse of credit.

These errors and these excesses are committed, no matter if the banknote be convertible or not.

In the crisis of 1872 to 1876, in that of 1884 to 1885, the banknote was convertible, and specie payments were suspended owing to the exigencies of those situations, of those errors we are trying to remedy.

And that remedy, gentlemen, we can apply, for the Republic counts with more resources than ever to repair the evil. We have more capital, more credit, more wealth, and we shall achieve our aim in an increase of national production. The present moment is one of difficulty, but faith in the Government and the people will remove the crisis.

Have faith and do not despair. Remember that we have lost none of our industries, we have exhausted none of our sources of production, no market has closed its gates to our productions, no epidemic, no drought devastates our camps. On the contrary, we are richer than yesterday, and we produce more than ever. Our lands are more valuable, the desert has been reclaimed, all our produces are finding their way to new markets. The Republic, in fact, is vastly more valuable to-day as a producing, financial and economic power.

But we must be prudent. Let us repair the errors of the past, of the people and of the Government; let us devote all our legislation, all our efforts to the task of returning to a normal stage by hard work and economy.

It is idle to seek in politics a cause for the present state of affairs: far from it. Politics have no influence in the question because there is no agitation in the country to cause any conflicts.

I have at my back a great national party to support the present situation: the action of that party is simultaneous all over the country.

The glorious traditions of that party I hold sacred since my advent to power. They teach me to respect liberty and the institutions that party has cemented by its deeds, solving great national problems; they teach me to maintain peace and the public order, which are the basis of that liberty and those institutions.

And among these traditions is the indestructible triumph of the National party in the legal transfer of power from one magistrate to the other without the violent dissensions which form a lengthy page in the adventures of the past.

There is no fear of any conflicts. No political issue threatens the peace of Argentines and all political parties can rest and devote their efforts to the common weal, the aggrandisement of the country.

The days of struggle will come later, when the people will elect among the citizens the worthiest to succeed me in the honorable but difficult task of governing them. Politics may then affect the economic situation: but until then let us avoid complications in our financial system by raising unnecessary conflicts and rushing into political eventualities.

When assuming the reins of power handed to me by my fellow citizens, I contracted towards the State a solemn obligation, and no consideration of party or personal interests shall deter me from complying with it. I have sworn before the world and my country to abide by the Constitution and make it respected.

When the moment comes to discuss the impartiality of my action as a magistrate and analyse in my deeds the value of my promises, you may remain assured that my impartiality will be clear, and that my successor in office will be he who is really elected by the voice of Argentines.

A country may have moments of tribulation; passions and errors may deviate popular currents; but in the long run the voice of justice and of truth, the only element of history, will be heard.

Gentlemen,

In the midst of our economical and commercial crisis Buenos Ayres inaugurates the great port of La Plata. A country that can produce such works in moments of difficulty boasts a great, powerful, wealthy and virile people.

Let us, therefore, greet it, bowing in respect before its great destiny.

An idea of the magnitude of the work may be gathered from the following particulars. At about one kilometre from the Ensenada and 7 from La Plata, between Punta Lara and Magdalena, there is a depression in the soil which has caused the river to form what is called the Rio Santiago. This river has been deepened and turned into a noble channel, serving as entrance to the docks and basins which make up the port. The Rio Santiago has three openings one on one side and two on the other, each constituting a port; and millions of money and tons of stone have been sunk here. The grand dock, as it is called, which is the heart of the work, is (of itself a port of importance. It is formed by a bed 1300 metres in length by 150 in width and has a depth of 26 feet. It has 2450 lineal metres of wharf. By means of a channel it is connected towards the North with the Santiago Port and in the opposite extreme it widens into a noble basin destined to facilitate the movements and egress of vessels that have finished loading.

The lateral channels run parallel to this dock, and have a width of 30 metres. They are intended to flush the port continually. The channel running eastward will, it is said, be fitted up to accommodate solely the Montevidean boats.

The west port and the entrance-channel are lined with magnificent wharves of stone, which must have cost millions to bring over from Uruguay, and pitch pine all majestically and soundly reposing on the safest of bases, "toca".

On all sides are studded the warehouses and different installations of the Muelles y Depositos Company. The concern has miles of dock and seems determined to cling to the fortunes of this splendid port. But, although the port is now open, it must be borne in mind that everything is not finished yet. The details of the picture have to be filled in, and hundreds of masons and carpenters are at work on the different structures which, when completed, will make La Plata an unrivalled port.

Perhaps the most wonderful feature of the port is what is known as the Puerto Santiago. We have already stated that owing to a natural depression in the soil the river had flowed in an arm called the Rio Santiago into the bank. This indenture has been scooped out and made the principal port of the entire work which, as may have been guessed, is a series of small ports, all connected and forming a whole which reflects the greatest credit on the architect of the work and at the same time shews what money even by itself can do.

The entrance-channel is another wonderful feature. It is 8½ kilometres in length, slightly curved and must have entailed enormous labor. It is flanked by stone and timber. An idea of the quantity of stone sunk in this part of the work may be gathered from the fact that the contractors for the supply of stone found it advisable to construct a railway 18 kilometres in length from the quarries to the Sauce, on the Uruguayan coast, and they extracted sufficient stone to keep six locomotives, a hundred and fifty wagons and seven hundred men continually at work. The masonry in the grand dock represents a hundred and fifty thousand cubic metres of stone and an equal number of barrels of cement. The dock holds two and a half million tons of water. The entire warehouses and minor basins which stretch to the very Bosque de la Plata cover an area of one thousand acres. What the tonnage of La Plata is remains to be seen.

SUNDAY'S RACING.

The meeting at Palermo on Sunday was from first to last full of incidents, some of a gratifying description, but others of a directly opposite nature. These latter were attributable to the shortcomings of the Jockey Club and the Railway Company, and had better be dealt with now. From first to last the greatest unpunctuality prevailed. The first event on the card was late, and in each succeeding race further time was lost, the result being that the Premio Bend 'Or was run in the dark. If the management is unable to keep better time, it would be more advisable in future to restrict the number of items on the card to 6 or even 5. The days are shortening, and 7 events, unless very punctually worked off, are decidedly too many.

For some time past, small boys have been in the habit of selling tickets on the various horses outside the sport boxes at a premium of 10 cents. To those who are too lazy to take tickets for themselve, this may be a boon; but, to the ordinary sportsman who objects to the noise and general roughness of this horde of bandits, the system is disgusting. But on Sunday another and worse system of brigandage was indulged in. These boys were selling tickets on Sapho, purporting to be for the Premio La Milla, but which were in reality tickets on Sapho for the Premio Condesa in Oct. 1889!! The tickets were clean, and it is evident that the boys must have obtained them in some surreptitious manner. We call the serious attention of the Jockey Club to this abuse, which, if allowed to remain unchecked, is likely to assume larger proportions.

By a mistake, Recluta [Ec. Titan] was ommited from the card instead of Recluta II. (Stud Hebreo) who had been scratched; much confusion thereby arose, more especially as Recluta turned out to be the trump card in the 2 year old race; the public were utterly mystified and what would otherwise have been a popular victory was very badly received.

The return special was utterly inadequate for the accommodation required and took no less than 45 minutes to negotiate the short journey between Palermo and Buenos Ayres; this must be rectified, for the public, who were remarkably patient on this occasion, will assuredly repeat the regrettable scenes of last year.

The racing itself was interesting. The peformance of Recluta in the Premio Productos was excellent; he carried 1½ kilo overweight and although he started badly and for the first part of the journey was a long way last, he achieved a clever victory, in spite also of the additional disadvantage of having to go round his horses at the last turn. Asteroide, who is smart just now pulled off his two races, but in the first there was something altogether wrong with his two most formidable opponents, Puygavean and Finance, whose running was totally inexplicable Mariscal showed up in his old form but the race would have been a tight fit had it been 100 yards further, for, at the finish, both Signet and Diputado were running on. Ary easily accounted for the Premio Tilimuqui and his running was altogether different from his display on Tuesday last.

The meetings at Palermo usually attract such good fields that the authorities should emulate the excellent management of the Hipodromo Nacional, in which case their reunions would be, what they are not now, facile princeps.

Railway Items

Yesterday we received a copy of Mr. J. C. Cortinez's reply to the charges made against him by Mr Remby, ex-Manager of the Andine Railway. It will be remembered that at the time of the recision of the Clark-Sandford contract a great deal of dust was raised about the state of the railway, and Mr. Remby appeared with some charges against him. These charges he endeavoured to refute by throwing the blame on Mr. J. C. Cortinez, and now this active public servant has entered the list with a defence of formidable length. Mr. Cortinez shows that when he went up to Villa Mercedes to clear the line, at that time in a fearful state of congestion, Mr. Remby promised to help him in every way, and to send the Traffic Manager to assist him. Accompanied by the traffic manager, who did not turn up till two days afterwards, he proceeded to question the station master at Villa Mercedes, and this gentleman "did not know how many delayed wagons there were there." However, a council was called, comprising Mr. Remby, Mr. Roberts (manager of the Argentine Great Western), Mr. Vega, the above-mentioned traffic manager, and finally Mr. Cortinez himself. It was agreed that all goods with "guias" for that station should be restamped and forwarded on the Great Western, it being understood that notice would be given and the goods handed over on the presentation of the "guias" by the consignees. These goods were valued at $80,000. Mr. Remby himself did not know the destination of the goods and this was the only means of clearing the line. Mr. Cortinez shews that he proceeded in everything in agreement with the manager of the Line. The goods bound for the Cuyo provinces were taken out of the wagon, which were wanted and placed in a deposits and this deposit was to be kept under lock and key. However, when the goods were taken out, Mr. Sanchez, sub-manager, objected to so much trouble being taken, and stopped the work that was going on to fit up the deposit for the goods. Mr. Cortinez energetically protested against this. Mr. Cortinez then reproduces a voluminous correspondence, shewing the real causes of the subsequent "irregularities", and refutes every charge embodied in Mr Remby's letter. We shall make no further extract. Suffice it to state that after a perusal of Mr. Cortinez' defence, we cannot close our eyes to the fact that the line must have been in a really terribly disorganized condition.

The River Plate Times says:—"The first trial trip has just been made from Monte video to Paysandu by the Central line to Paso de los Toros, and then by the Midland to Paysandu.

"Notwithstanding the fact of the new line between Paso de los Toros and Paysandu not being perfectly concluded in some parts, and therefore requiring some care, the trial trip was made in sixteen hours, without the slightest mishap or trouble. Being a trial trip, of course no great speed was given to the engine.

"The trip was made by engineers Frewin and Arocena, accompanied by the family of Hughes. The line will be completed and opened to the public on the 15th April. The distance from Montevideo to Paysandu will then be run in fourteen hours. Later on, when the line is in good working order, the fourteen hours will be reduced to twelve.

The banquet given by Messrs. Punchard MacTaggart, Lowther and Co., on the occasion of the inauguration of the Buenos Ayres Grand National Tramways (Admiral Kennedy's Line) took place last night at Mercer's.

Engineer Torme, one of the oldest employees in the Board of Public Works, leaves shortly for Italy, on six months' leave.

The active inspector of the Monte Caseros Corrientes and Posada Railways filed his report yesterday for March. We find that the cubic thrown up last month was 205,000 metres, making a total up to date of 5,225,000 cubic metres. There are 4900 men employed on the works and with this formidable army it is not astonishing that the earthworks now stretch 540 kilometres, nineteen having been added during March. The stations of Monte Caseros, Santa Ana and Libres are finished, and those of Corrientes and Posadas are in course of construction. Owing to the want of nails and other minor material, the work of laying the rails progressed very slowly in March. There are about 220 kilometres of rails already laid and the following stock is in service—twenty locomotives, twenty carriages and 255 wagons, besides four light box engines.

The Board of Public Works in view of the double track from Belgrano to Olivos, filed a note yesterday to the Minister requesting His Excellency to allow the Northern Railway Company to open that line, provided an alteration be made in the culvert at kil. 11,400 and sundry other changes. We may expect the decree this week.

Government retrenchment is being felt in certain engineer circles. We heard of several supernumeraries having been dismissed yesterday, mostly up-country engineers.

We clip the following from a London exchange. It will be remembered that a London correspondent (Voice from London) stated that there were no applications made for the debentures.

The Buenos Ayres Grand National Tramways Company, Limited:—The Trustees, Executors, and Securities Insurance Corporation, Limited, of London and Liverpool, announce that they are prepared to receive applications for an issue of £220,000 Six Per Cent First Debenture Bonds of £100 each, of the Buenos Ayres Grand National Tramways Company, Limited. The price of issue is £105 per £100 Bond, payable £10 per cent on application, £25 on allotment, and £35 each on the 15th of March and April respectively. It is mentioned that the Buenos Ayres Grand National Tramways Company Limited was formed on March 4th, 1889, under the title of "The Buenos Ayres Metropolitan Tramways Company Limited," for the purpose of acquiring the Concession and constructing and working an important system of tramways, about 26 miles in length, for the transport of passengers and merchandise in the City of Buenos Ayres, but, owing to the requirements of the Argentine Government, it was found necessary to change the name of the Company. Of the £220,000 Debentures now being issued, £200,000 is payable to the contractors under the contract for the construction and equipment of the Tramways and providing the requisite land for and erecting stables and depots for the Company. The Directors have the opportunity of acquiring adjoining land, which would give the Company a frontage to four streets, and enable them to double the size and accommodation of the stables, depots, and offices hereafter at a very cheap rate. Looking to the great development and increase of traffic on the established lines and to the rapidly-increasing value of land in the City of Buenos Ayres, the Directors have, it is mentioned, decided to avail themselves of this opportunity, and to raise a further sum of £20,000 by the issue of Debentures. Of this sum only £11,000 will be required for the purchase of land, and the remainder will be held in reserve for any future needs of the Company. An issue of £200,000 Seven per Cent Preference Shares made in March last was fully applied for and allotted. The whole of this system of Tramways is all but completed. Cars have been run from La Boca to Recoleta, and the Tramways, complete and equipped, will be handed over to the Company by the 31st March next, the day stipulated in the contract, and an experienced manager has already been engaged, so that traffic may be commenced directly the line is opened.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The week opened and the month ended nicely yesterday. Weather grand. Telegrams from Mendoza reported all the students and schoolboys in that grapy quarter still in a state of ferment, and another rather serious riot, in which Remingtons and revolvers were used and six people wounded. Another disagreeable, though fully expected, item of news was the total failure of the attempt to sell the 24,000 leagues of land by Dr. Basavilbaso. Just now one might as well ask the capitalists of Europe to buy 24,900 leagues in the moon.

We feel much pleasure in saluting Mr. Byron P. Stephenson, correspondent of the Illustrated American of New York and Chicago, to which he

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London! Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. To His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

bags. It must be borne in mind that the moles and station are also full of railway material being discharged from the vessels recently arrived and which adds to the bustle and stir of business.

The meeting of Shareholders of Las Catalinas Wharf and Deposit Company was held on Saturday, 117,853 shares being represented. The chairman, Dr. Alcorta, ordered the minutes of the previous meeting to be read, after which he informed the meeting that the London and River Plate Bank had declined the option to the £300,000 sterling, balance of the loan; as the bank declined also to hand over the bonds, Mr. Mallmann, who happened to be in London, was authorized by the company to arrange the matter, which has finally been settled by the bank making an advance of of £200,000 and receiving a mortgage on the Boca lands purchased from Mr. Mallman as additional guarantee. The receipts of the company during first quarter of year amount to 455,000 dollars, and should the Government put in practice the proposal to collect custom dues in gold, the company would also collect in gold for lighterage and storage, thus increasing their receipts by 140 op. For the service of the debt in London, 310,000 gold dollars are required per annum. A further loan will be raised to construct a dock and deposits in the Boca, which are now being pushed ahead by the money set apart for the dividend, but which it has been decided not to distribute. The duration of the company has been fixed for 30 years, as its debts run up to 24 years.

It is said to-day that the £300,000 advance arranged by Mr. Chas Casado for the Santa Fe provincial bank has been effected through Samuel B. Hale and Co. and the gold already sold.

There is much talk in the market about a protest made by a depositor against the Provincial Mortgage Bank. It appears that the amount was deposited in the bank to pay for a property bought at foreclosure auction, and that the sale cannot be ratified, as the party who sold was not a regular auctioneer, still it would be wiser on the part of the Directors to return the man his money. We know nothing of the question beyond what has appeared in the papers, but the sooner the matter is arranged the better.

Everyone on 'Change spoke of President Juarez's splendid speech on Sunday on inaugurating the La Plata Port. We give it in English in another column. It is beyond question one of the best speeches H.E. ever made, and is praised by all who have read it. The speech was a surprise to the market, as no one expected that the President would make more than the ordinary hum-drum discourse on such occasions.

Mr R. Trotman, who has arrived back from Europe, was welcomed on 'Change.

On Sunday there was a large attendance at the old Vasura Plaza, on Calle Rivadavia, facing the Lacroze Tram Station, another auction having been called, the valuation having been reduced from 35 mpn to 20 mpn per square metre. The lots fetched from 20.50 to 26.10 per square metre, all being sold.

We compliment Madame Fitzgerald, the Reverend Mother of the Sacred Heart Convent, on the splendid site she has purchased in Calle Callao for her new convent. The site has a magnificent frontage on the finest street in this city and covers an area of about eight thousand square varas. The price paid, we understand, was seventy-five dollars mpn per vara cuadrada. Last year this property would have easily sold for 120 dollars m/n per vara, and some property in the same street, a few squares down, was sold, by order of the National Government, and fetched as high as two hundred dollars mpn per vara cuadada, not more than a year ago. Thus it has proved rather fortunate for the Reverend Mother that her offer last year for the Irish Orphanage property was declined, and that the sale made by the committee of the trustees fell through.

As a patent sign of the crucial times through which the country is passing we hear that the number of orders sent by important firms to Europe countermanding goods is simply astounding, and not alone this, but it is reported that large lots of goods arrived and warehoused are being reshipped in part to Montevideo and partly to Europe. In the Mount they say that the lighters and deposits are all chock full of merchandise, due to the fact that everything arriving with option of port is disembarked there. This points conclusively to a speedy falling off in the import returns here.

A decree signed by the Finance Minister was issued to-day declaring all the objects imported for the Exhibition of the Rural Society free of duty.

The receipts at the Custom House today were: imports $140,252.24; exports $546.40, and bills $30,242.40; total for the month $3,885,000.

Dr. Pacheco, the Finance Minister, starts to-morrow for his estancia in Entre-Rios for a short vacation.

At the Finance Ministry, the news published in an afternoon contemporary that the sale of the 24,000 leagues had been suspended is officially denied.
